LAWYER RIDICULES STATE'S EVIDENCE IN SHEPHERD CASE

Stewart Tells Jury Nonsensical Conclusions Have Been Drawn From Flimsy Testimony.

FINDS FLAW IN FAIMAN STORY

Declares Star Witness Did Not Admit Giving Typhoid Germs, Thereby Providing a Defense.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 25.—Closing arguments continued today in the Shepherd murder trial with the prospect that the case would go to the jury tomorrow.

William Scott Stewart, chief of defense counsel, resumed his address when court convened.

William Scott Stewart, chief of defense counsel, resumed his address today.

Shepherd entered the court room this morning with his face showing distinct marks of worry.

Mrs. Shepherd seemed particularly affable, however. She smiled and chatted with a group of friends who constantly attend her in court.

Stewart attacked his attack upon Alexander F. Reichmann, attorney, and with Mrs. Shepherd, former guardian of Billy McClintock.

"Don't you think it reasonable to say that he didn't like Billy?" demanded Stewart, after he had detailed many of the disagreements between Reichmann and the Shepherds and had accused Reichmann of unethical tactics in drawing the will of the youth's mother.

Stewart then took up the manner of the making of the Billy McClintock will and scored that as a piece of deception and fraud.

"If he had been nursing the boy along to slay him, wouldn't he have gotten someone else to draw the will?" asked Stewart. "That is one of the points he is going to have to explain in the Probate Court in the will fight. He must face it. But if he had been trying to prepare an alibi, wouldn't he have somebody else draw the will so as to cast suspicion on him?"

Reviews the Testimony.

Stewart took up the testimony of the many witnesses in the trial and analyzed it from his viewpoint for the jury.

The letter Shepherd wrote to Miss Estelle Gehling, a young nurse with whom he once was friendly, was just a letter to a girl," Stewart said, even though Shepherd testified that he was bankrupt, had no plans, and probably would close his office and drift away from it all.

Shepherd's statement to the young woman that he had asked Billy to give him a valuable piece of property was not in keeping with the alleged plan to kill the youth and get it all, Stewart said.

"Never mind about Willie, he will come out of this with his pockets filled," an undenied statement attributed to Shepherd 17 years ago, while he was examining Mrs. McClintock's Texas property, was called a reference to the money-making possibilities of a project rather than a step in a murder plot.

Stewart admitted that Shepherd had said to a newspaper reporter that he hurried home to throw out of the house anybody who tried to marry Billy. He pointed to that as an illustration of fatherly interest rather than a desperate effort to prevent a marriage which would nullify the will in which Billy had left Shepherd the $1,000,000 estate.

"Nonsensical Conclusions."

"From all that has been testified by all these witnesses I have gone over, have you anything but a lot of foolish statements from which have been drawn a lot of foolish and nonsensical conclusions?" demanded Stewart. "Why, you would not send a dog to the dog pound for a day on such evidence."

"All they have done here is bring in proof possibly of a motive, possibly of an opportunity to kill—but are you going to hang a man for that?"

In reaching Charles C. Faiman's testimony, Stewart reiterated his demand to "hang" Shepherd if you believe he dealt with Faiman.

After the luncheon recess Judge Lynch decided that court would adjourn at 4:30 p. m. as usual. A plan had been discussed with the lawyers today of holding court in continuous session until the jury returned a verdict. The jury returned a verdict. The jury returned a verdict.

TIME ON HIS HANDS, COOLIDGE AT SEA WHAT TO DO WITH IT

Doesn't Care for Golf or Yachting and Probably Won't Go Bathing.

By the Associated Press.
SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., June 25.—President Coolidge settled down today to the enjoyment of a summer vacation, determined to keep a close check on Government affairs, but a bit at sea as to how to put in his leisure moments.

Some of the President's close friends, curious as to what he will do for amusement during the summer, inquired as to his plans and were told by Mr. Coolidge that he had been wondering about that himself. The executive, does not care for golf, probably won't go bathing in the cold water here, is not fond of yachting, horseback riding or any other sport and, therefore, is expecting to confine his outdoor activities to short strolls and motor tripping with an occasional cruise on the Mayflower now anchored off Marblehead, near here. The President motored with Mrs. Coolidge for a short distance along the shore last evening. Three White House automobiles are at his disposal.

Before departing from Washington Mr. Coolidge told friends that he planned during the summer to read a great deal, particularly biography and history. He is fond of motion pictures and arrangements have been made for the showing of news reels and the late films in the evening at White Court.

AMUNDSEN'S PARTY LEAVES SPITZBERGEN

Sails for Naval Base at Horten, Whence It Will Fly to Oslo.

By WILLIAM BIRD.
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1925.)

SPITZBERGEN, June 25 (by radio from steamship Heimland).—Roald Amundsen today watched the transfer of his polar expedition supplies and equipment from the steamer Hobby to the Albatross W. Selmar, on which he and his companions sailed today for Horten. From the naval base at Horten the party will fly to Oslo.

As each case and package was lifted from the Hobby's hold Amundsen's gaze rested upon it carefully, memory going back to the part each item played in the expedition's success.

The Selmar's decks are piled with coal. The journey to Horten will take about a week.

Amundsen, with genuine emotion, bade farewell to the Hobby, stripped of every vestige of the expedition, after being mother ship for three months and the scene of many happy gatherings, after the anxious weeks of waiting in Arctic ice for the party's return.

Conference in Berlin on Dirigible Expedition to Pole.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, June 25.—Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin Company, believes the North Pole can be crossed in a dirigible as at present construction. On his return al in Berlin today for a conference on the possibilities of organizing an aerial Arctic expedition. Dr. Eckener said he agreed with Captain Roald Amundsen that the pole could be reached through the air by means of a Zeppelin and asserted that he would give his full co-operation.

Many experts are expected to participate in the conference here, which is being held under the auspices of an international committee, with Dr. Fridtjof Nansen as chairman.

MAYOR'S GRAFT INQUIRY FUND CUT TO $5000

Estimate Board After Refusing to Allow $15,000 Assumes Control of the Expenditures.

ACTION TAKEN IN ABSENCE OF MILLER

Executive, Who Is in Hospital, Wrote to Two Other Members of Board Urging Original Sum.

The $15,000 fund which Mayor Miller desired to have appropriated for municipal graft investigations, under his sole direction, was reduced today by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which also amended the measure to provide that the Board of Estimate, instead of the Mayor alone, should control the expenditure.

Comptroller Neill and President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, took this action after reading a letter from the third member, Mayor Miller, who is in a hospital, and who urged them to approve the measure in its original form.

Gist of Mayor's Letter.

In his letter, the Mayor said that the Board of Estimate had pledged itself to support any effort he might make to correct irregularities and investigate graft charges. He said that objections to the $15,000 appropriation were "not founded on economic or reasonable grounds," and that investigations should not be made by persons connected with the departments and matters involved.

"I intend to carry out my pledges, regardless of whose feelings are hurt," he wrote. "Every handicap and obstacle is being placed in the path of more economical and efficient government."

He repeated his former statement that the proposed investigation would result in saving millions of dollars to the taxpayers.

In explanation of their action, Neill and Neun said that they decided $5000 would be enough to make a start on any work of inquiry that might be needed. If more were needed, they said, it could be provided in a later appropriation measure. The Board of Aldermen, to which the measure will go, cannot increase the $5000 approved by the Board of Estimate, but can further reduce it, or can defeat the measure.

The Original Measure.

The original bill, drafted in conformity with the Mayor's idea, provided that the Mayor should be required to account for the money only in general terms, and at the close of his term of office. "The Board of Estimate substituted for this a requirement that the report on the use of the money should be made, after one year, to the Board of Aldermen, by the Board of Estimate."

The Board of Estimate also approved the new Union Marker Bill, giving the Comptroller supervision of the market, as he has had in the past. A recent attempt to amend this bill, to place the market under the control of the Director of Public Safety, was traced to supporters of the Mayor. There still is prospect of a fight over this matter in the Board of Aldermen.

Safety Director Brod today said he had spoken to some of the aldermen, advising them to vote against the measure placing the Comptroller in charge of the market. He denied reports that he had threatened political reprisals against aldermen supporting the measure.

Architects' Fees Approved.

The Board of Estimate also approved bond issue fund appropriation measures, for $150,000 for architectural and engineering fees on the new Courthouse; $50,000 for similar fees on the Municipal Auditorium, and $50,000 for the new Union Marker Bill.

It reduced the salary scale of the Sheriff's office, which had been approved by the Circuit Judges. Under an act of the last Legislature, the Sheriff's office was placed on a salary basis, under the control of the city government, with the Sheriff's salary at $10,000 a year. In revising the deputies' salary scale, the Board of Estimate left the two Chief Deputies and the execution deputy at $200 a month each, and reduced the others from the scale approved by the Judges, as follows: Bookkeepers, $250 to $215; property man, $230 to $225; Assistant City Deputy, $250 to $220; courtroom deputies, $175 to $155; service deputies, $165 to $145.

NAVY'S WIRELESS EQUIPMENT PUT ON MACMILLAN SHIP

Dispute Settled, Explorer Hurries Preparations at Sydney to Sail for Labrador.

BOTH TYPES OF RADIO TO BE USED

Expedition's Chief Wireless Expert Yielded to Wilbur's Demand for Long-Wave Navy Sets.

By the Associated Press.
SYDNEY, N. S. W., June 25.—With a disagreement over wireless equipment settled with the Navy Department, Commander Donald B. Macmillan of the American Arctic Expedition is pushing preparations to sail northward tomorrow. The steamers "Bowdoin and Peary" are being fueled. The Navy's long-wave wireless equipment is being transferred to the Peary from the United States Destroyer Putnam, which arrived here last night after a rush trip from Wiscasset, Me., on orders of Secretary Wilbur. The next stop is Battle Harbor, Labrador, where native Eskimo clothing and boots will be taken aboard for the navigators of the three naval planes. The expedition base will be at Etah, Greenland, whence the vast area between the North Pole and Alaska will be explored by air for an undiscovered continent.

Radio Expert Objected.

Secretary Wilbur yesterday issued an ultimatum that if the long-wave spark wireless equipment was not carried the navy's personnel and planes were to disembark here. He said he considered this equipment on the Peary essential for the safety of the naval men and that Commander Macmillan had agreed to carry this equipment.

The Navy's radio was left behind at Boston and again at Wiscasset and only short-wave equipment taken.

E. F. McDonald, chief radio expert of the expedition, and second in command, who is president of the Zenith Radio Corporation, which made the short-wave apparatus being used by the expedition, Wilbur said yesterday in Washington, did not believe in standard long-wave apparatus to be carried.

"He objected to it," the Secretary declared, "but we insisted and he finally acquiesced."

Commander Macmillan today said he was most anxious to comply with the Secretary's requirements and expressed appreciation of the Navy's deep interest in the success of the expedition and the safety of the Navy flyers. Others aboard said the navy's radio was left behind through a misunderstanding.

The short-wave apparatus on the ships, Macmillan added, was doing excellent work. Staff men of the National Geographic Society, sponsoring the expedition, have cleared reports daily by radio to society's headquarters in Washington. Amateur stations as far away as Alabama and Texas have been communicated with.

The Navy Department has ordered the planes to travel in pairs. One plane is to carry short-wave radio and the other long-wave, so that constant communication with the base ships will be assured.

Typhoon Damages Manila.

By the Associated Press.
MANILA, June 25.—A typhoon yesterday caused delayed inland shipping, damaged telegraph communication and damaged railroad and wagon roads, which suffered from washouts. No ship wrecks have been reported.

Just Like a Gypsy

Most of us have a streak of the wanderlust in us. We may not know it, but it is there. It is a good thing for everyone to indulge that desire once a year by taking a touring vacation.

You can, just like a gypsy, travel all over the country and camp if you wish—from Maine to California for a very little money.

And your caravan can be bought for less than $100.00. If you will carefully consult and compare the classified "Automobiles" columns of the Post-Dispatch.

MADISON, Wis., June 25.—Senator Robert M. La Follette's will was filed today for probate in the Dane County Court here today, names his widow, Mrs. La Follette, as sole beneficiary, and secures the Senator's debts, including the mortgage on the homestead, are estimated in the petition at $25,000, his personal property at $20,000 and his real estate, which is the homestead, at $45,000.

SPENDS $100 IN SUIT OVER $1.50, BUT WINS CASE

Government Employee Gets Decision He Is Entitled to Lunch Money.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, June 25.—Herbert Ward of Oregon, the Government employee whose lunch bill of $1.50 at Alexandria, Va., was sent back to him by the Comptroller-General, has won his suit in the Court of Claims for the money and the Bureau of Claims will now be asked to pass on the question.

Ward was detailed by the Department of Agriculture to make an investigation at Alexandria and was told to turn in an expense account, which he did, and all of the items were allowed except the $1.50. The Comptroller held that a Government employee cannot be reimbursed for meals taken between hours of 8 a. m. and 6 p. m. while near his "permanent station."

The Court of Claims reversed the ruling of the Comptroller. It held: "It is not disputed that the plaintiff saw fit to eat during the hours of his absence from the district, which embraced a regular meal hour within the regulations, or that he ate at the expense claimed, and no reason appears why he should not be reimbursed accordingly."

Ward has expended approximately $100 trying to get back his $1.50.

CHICAGO COUNCIL FAVORS SECESSION FROM ILLINOIS

Failure of Legislature to Make Reapportionment Brings Approval of "Divorce" Resolution.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 25.—Secession of Chicago from Illinois has been approved in a resolution, unanimously adopted by the City Council. An outline of the proper legal proceedings to bring about the separation also was asked of Francis H. Busch, corporation counsel.

All of Cook County would be included in the proposed withdrawal and adjoining counties, denied legislative representation in proportion to population, would be invited to join the movement.

Failure of the Illinois Legislature to make reapportionment of representation for Chicago was given by Alderman Toman, author of the resolution, as the reason for the proposal. The 1921 census, he said, entitles Chicago to 15 more Representatives and five more Senators than it has at present.

Toman said the plan of divorce from the State is similar to that of Detroit, which, he said, is taking legal advice on how to bring about a severance from Michigan.

TIME FOR NATIONS TO SETTLE DEBTS, WORLD C. OF C. TOLD

Chairman of U. S. Chamber of Commerce Says Therein Lies Restoration of Confidence.

By the Associated Press.
BRUSSELS, June 25.—John W. O'Leary, vice president of the Chicago Trust Co. and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, today told the International Chamber of Commerce in convention here that American business men believe the time has come for the settlement of the inter-allied debts.

"The restoration of confidence," he said, "lies in the assurance that all nations will meet their financial obligations."

He said the position taken by the United States Government on this question reflects the will of the American people. He expressed his confidence that the American people are mercenary and are seeking to profit by the misfortunes of Europe. He said the success of the United States is bound up in the success of Europe.

LA FOLLETTE FOR HALL OF FAME

Wisconsin Chooses Senator for Second Statute.

By the Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis., June 25.—The Wisconsin legislature has chosen Robert M. La Follette as the subject for the State's second statue in the National Hall of Fame at Washington. Sufficient appropriation was made to carry out the plan and a resolution was passed putting the selection into effect.

The resolution points out that each state, by act of Congress, has been invited to provide marble or bronze statues of two of its deceased residents for the Hall of Fame and that Wisconsin heretofore has placed only one, that of Pere Marquette, missionary and explorer.

MADISON, Wis., June 25.—Senator Robert M. La Follette's will was filed today for probate in the Dane County Court here today, names his widow, Mrs. La Follette, as sole beneficiary, and secures the Senator's debts, including the mortgage on the homestead, are estimated in the petition at $25,000, his personal property at $20,000 and his real estate, which is the homestead, at $45,000.

ARRESTS UNDER NEW DOWNTOWN PARKING RULES

Twelve Police Court Summonses Issued by Officers to Violators of the Regulations.

GAYER'S ATTITUDE IN MATTER IGNORED

Thirty-One Policemen Especially Assigned to District Affected to Aid in the Enforcement.

Thirty-one policemen were especially detailed to the downtown congested district today to enforce the new Traffic Council regulations prohibiting rush-hour parking in the greater part of the section and allowing in some local district streets, following the arrest of 11 men and one woman yesterday for violating the rush-hour rule.

However, no arrests were reported to have been made by them up to noon. They do not report arrests until the end of the day, as violators are given ticket summonses and not booked at police stations. This was the third day the regulations were in effect. The police will continue arresting violators.

Rules Generally Observed.

At noon the policemen pointed out that even where one-hour parking was permissible at that time there were comparatively few cars parked, in blocks which were jammed with cars before the new rules caused many motorists to leave their machines elsewhere. For the most part, the policemen said, drivers seemed to understand and obey the regulations, but late afternoon was the time when they expected violations to occur.

All of the defendants arrested yesterday were given Police Court summonses to answer the charge of violating a Traffic Council rule, rather than the charge of failure to obey a reasonable direction of a traffic policeman. Judge Gayer of the Court of Criminal Correction, to whom appeals from Police Court convictions are taken, has announced he will discharge defendants convicted of violating Traffic Council rules, holding the Council's rule-making authority to be invalid.

Under the other form of charge, the appeal Judge would have to consider circumstances as to whether the officer's direction was reasonable. Police Judges Rosecan and Beck have been upholding the Council's authority. It is likely that those now under charges, if convicted, can be relieved of their fines by appealing to Judge Gayer.

Supreme Court Decisions Cited.

Judge Gayer, looking further into the matter, has cited the constitutionality of the Council's rule-making authority, has found general State Supreme Court cases affirming the doctrine that it is illegal for a law-making body, like the Board of Aldermen, to delegate legislative authority to a body like the Traffic Council, empowering it to make rules.

Seven of those arrested yesterday are to appear before Police Judge Beck tomorrow. Their names and places where they parked, either in morning or evening rush-hour periods, follow:

One Booked at Police Station.

Beard was the first person arrested under the new rules. He was taken to a police station and booked because, in addition, he had no city license.

Mrs. Alice Komacka, of 5095 Wisconsin avenue, is to appear before Judge Rosecan tomorrow for parking in front of 806 Chestnut street. Louis Capizzi of 809 North Eleventh street, who parked in front of 706 North Broadway for 10 minutes, is to appear before Judge Beck on Monday. David Gunn of 225 West Monroe street, who parked in front of 908 Franklin avenue, is to appear before Judge Beck on Tuesday. Frank Medelack of 1822 Victor street, who parked in front of 7 North Broadway, is to appear before Judge Rosecan on Wednesday. Hunter Breckinridge of 5041 Cates avenue, is to face Judge Rosecan Thursday for parking in front of 416 North Fourth street.

Yesterday 36 other persons were arrested under traffic or parking ordinances or older rules of the Traffic Council.

Divorces Fourth Husband

Baroness D'Eranger, Formerly Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt.

EX-MRS. HEWITT DIVORCES BARON ROBIN D'ERANGER

Complaint Included Letters Received by Artist Containing Promises of Marriage.

Copyright, 1925, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., New York World and Sun (New York).

PARIS, June 25.—Baroness D'Eranger, previously Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt of New York, has obtained a divorce from Baron Robin D'Eranger, artist. Her complaint included letters alleged to have been received by her husband, signed "Your little slave girl," and containing affectionate terms and promises of marriage.

Baron D'Eranger was the fourth husband of the one time Mayron Andrews of Virginia. She married Pedar Bruguliere, millionaire, in 1902 and divorced him in Reno in 1909; married Stewart Denning of New York within a year and divorced him in Reno in the following year, and in 1918 married Peter Cooper Hewitt, inventor, and the grandson of Peter Cooper Hewitt, who died in 1921, leaving her two-thirds of his fortune. This was reduced to one-third by her marriage to Baron D'Eranger in Paris in 1922.

Early in 1924, the Baron advertised in newspapers that he no longer would be responsible for his wife's debts. She replied with a notice that he never at any time had contributed to her support or his own.

$200,000 DISTRIBUTED AMONG DEPARTMENT STORE EMPLOYEES

Checks for Old Workers at the Fair in Chicago Range From $200 to $500.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 25.—Old employees of the Lehmann family, owners of the Fair Department Store until its recent sale to S. S. Kresge, called at the office of the Lehmann estate today to receive checks for long and faithful service. The Lehmann family is giving $200,000 to the loyal employees. The fund was divided into awards of $2000, $1000 and $500, according to length of service.

"I'll own my home by night. I feel 10 years younger," declared Fred Nyberg, a watchman for 31 years, as he walked away, carrying a check for $2000, explaining that he still owed $1000 on the house.

Katie Murphy, 41 years in the hardware department, wept as she took her reward of $2000. Among the others of long service were those who had worked 40 years, 35 years and lesser periods.

"We were happy to see and thank these men and women," said E. J. Lehmann, "that's why we wanted to give the checks ourselves."

The donors were E. J. Otto W. and Miss A. E. Lehmann, Mrs. Emilie W. Peacock and Mrs. B. L. Behr.

NEGOTIATIONS ON ITALY'S WAR DEBT BEGUN AT WASHINGTON

Italian Delegation Three Hours With Members of American Commission.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 25.—Negotiations for the funding of the Italian war debt were set in motion today at a three-hour conference between an official Italian delegation and four members of the American Debt Commission. The next conference will meet next Tuesday.

At today's adjournment Secretary Mellon said he could not reveal whether the discussions were regarded as indicative of progress.

Ambassador de Martino, head of the Italian delegation, told the American commissioners that Italy acknowledged the debt, and desired a settlement permitting payment over a period of years.

The Italian ability to pay, he said, should form the basis for the negotiations. He did not outline the precise terms Italy will seek.

JUDGMENTS AGAINST 228 PERSONS FOR BACK TAXES

Had Been Filed Against 2073,
But Service on Remainder Had Not Been Obtained.

When the back tax docket was called yesterday by Circuit Judge Calhoun he was surprised to find only 228 cases listed for trial, whereas last year at this time when the same docket was called 1963 cases were listed.

The Judge wondered if the tax situation was improving, but he soon discovered the reason for the difference over a year ago was due to the fact that service had not been obtained on most of the defendants in the back tax cases filed since last September, and which constitute the present docket. As a matter of fact, there are 2073 such cases, but it was possible to get for trial only those in which service had been obtained.

After commencing on the small docket, Judge Calhoun proceeded to render judgment. Nearly all the judgments were returned against persons who failed to pay their personal taxes, not more than a dozen resulting from delinquency in payment of real estate taxes. Of the suits originally filed, 95 defendants settled before judgment could be rendered against them.

Niagara Falls and Muscle Shoals. SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., June 25.—Samuel S. Wyer of New York, a consulting engineer, told the national convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers last night that, without affecting its scenic value, Niagara Falls could develop 25 times the hydro-electric power of Muscle Shoals. Wyer presented figures to show that there is available in the United States 250 times as much water power as could be developed at Muscle Shoals. These figures, he said, indicated that the Muscle Shoals project would need to be multiplied 400 times to equal the power that is now furnished the country by stationary steam engines, oil and gas motors and directly applied water power.

JUDGMENTS AGAINST 228 PERSONS FOR BACK TAXES
 Had Been Filed Against 2073, but Service on Remainder Had Not Been Obtained.
 When the back tax docket was called yesterday by Circuit Judge Calhoun he was surprised to find only 228 cases listed for trial, whereas last year at this time when the same docket was called 1663 cases were listed.
 The Judge wondered if the tax situation was improving, but he discovered the reason for the difference over a year ago was due to the fact that service had not been obtained on most of the defendants in the back tax cases filed last September, and which constitute the present docket. As a matter of fact, there are 2073 such cases, but it was possible to get for trial only those in which service had been obtained.
 After commenting on the small docket, Judge Calhoun proceeded to render judgment. Nearly all the judgments were returned against persons who failed to pay their personal taxes, not more than a dozen resulting from delinquency in payment of real estate taxes. Of the suits originally filed, 95 defendants settled before judgment could be rendered against them.

Niagara Falls and Muscle Shoals.
 SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., June 25.—Samuel S. Weyer of New York, a consulting engineer, told the national convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers last night that, without affecting its scenic value, Niagara Falls could develop 25 times the hydro-electric power of Muscle Shoals. Weyer presented figures to show that there is available in the United States 250 times as much water power as could be developed at Muscle Shoals. These figures, he said, indicated that the Muscle Shoals project would need to be multiplied 400 times to equal the power that is now furnished the country by stationary steam engines, oil and gas motors and directly applied water power.

SINGER HEIR JAILED ON WIFE'S CHARGES

Mrs. A. K. Bourne Jr., Alleges
He Struck Her After Quarrel in Street.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 25.—Arthur K. Bourne Jr., grandson of the late Commodore Frederick G. Bourne, former millionaire head of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., brought up in a cell at a police station early last evening, after a chase of three blocks that started after his young wife, Beatrice, with whom he had quarreled on the street, accused him of striking her.

Hundreds of persons attracted to the neighborhood by the disturbance witnessed the chase.

Bourne, who is 22 years old, was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. The incident was another in a series that has marked the stormy marital career that started when the couple eloped, in September, 1922.

The Bournes had been separated several months. Bourne arrived in New York a few days ago and went to the home of his mother, Mrs. Ethel Hollin Bourne.

Young Mrs. Bourne, her father said, went there to learn the foundation of rumors that her husband was seeking to divorce her in California. She took up a vigil across the street from the house. Shortly after 8 o'clock last evening the youthful husband emerged from the home. There were sharp words. Mrs. Bourne screamed. She told those who rushed to her that Bourne had struck her.

Mrs. Bourne has blamed her mother-in-law for her difficulties, and last November filed a suit against her charging alienation of affections. She also filed a suit for separation.

Young Bourne has generally been regarded an important help to the estate of his grandfather, who died leaving a fortune estimated at $40,000,000.

Methodist Sunday-School Picnic.
The annual picnic of the Sunday school of St. Paul's Methodist Church, 1927 St. Louis avenue, will be held next Saturday at Trinity Recreation grounds, St. Charles and Woodson roads.

BRITAIN WILLING TO ENTER PARLEY ON ARMAMENTS

Foreign Minister Tells Commons Government Will Discuss Limitation With Other Great Powers.

SUGGESTS U. S. TAKE NAVAL INITIATIVE

Declares Question of Land Curtailment Might Better Come From Some Other Power.

By JOHN L. BALDERSTON, London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, June 23.—"This country will join with other great powers in any conference for limitation of naval armaments or reduction of land armaments," Foreign Secretary Chamberlain declared to a crowded House of Commons. "Perhaps the initiative in naval matters, if they are to be treated separately, might better come from the power to whom we owe the summoning of the Washington conference, the first decisive act of disarmament the world has known," he said in his speech last night.

If we are thinking of land matters, security is a necessary preliminary, and we and the United States, who have reduced our forces to a scale no larger than a police force for the interests we have to guard, are perhaps not in the best position to summon a land conference.

Chamberlain had been guardedly discussing the proposed Rhine security pact on which he and French Foreign Minister Briand recently came to an understanding at Geneva. He was careful in answering the challenge of David Lloyd George and Ramsay MacDonald, his statements' foreshadowing that the great land powers, once secure, will summon a land conference or assembly of Nations to do so.

Answers His Critics. After hedging in his early speech, Chamberlain also replied more directly to his critics on his agreement with France.

He denied that under the agreement the French would have a right to invade Germany in order to help Poland under the Franco-Polish alliance.

The right to move troops across another country to the assistance of a third country does not exist from the existing provisions of the covenant of the League of Nations," he declared.

Chamberlain made clear that Britain proposes to guarantee Germany against Germany, as well as France against Germany. He recalled previous efforts to make pacts among the allies directed against German aggression and said that such unilateral pact could now be contemplated by the British Government, no alliance directed against a third party who was excluded from it could now form the basis of British policy.

Germany must enter the League of Nations "at least contemporaneously with the coming into force of any new arrangement of this kind," he said.

Step Toward Disarmament. The security pact, Chamberlain argued, was a real step toward disarmament because it will dispel the atmosphere of fear in Europe. Leaders of the Labor and Liberal oppositions opposed the pact in speeches remarkable for their mildness. It was clear that both MacDonald and Lloyd George felt that Chamberlain's promise that no engagements would be entered into without the assent of the House had made a strong impression, and predictions that an onslaught against Chamberlain would be delivered fell flat.

MacDonald argued that the League protocol, turned down by the present cabinet, would have served the cause of peace better than the security pact. He insisted it was vital for the country to know whether the new pacts and arbitration treaties contemplated impose upon Britain obligations and war risks over and above those contracted under the League of Nations covenant. Chamberlain did not answer the challenge.

Lloyd George stressed the opposition of the Dominions to participation in European affairs. "We are pledging the whole strength and might of this country without the Dominions," he said. "It may be because the Dominions follow the orbit of American foreign policy, a very dangerous thing to do."

Lloyd George Criticizes Pact. Declaring that both France and Germany will accept a far different sort of pact because of the pressing need of both nations for foreign capital, Lloyd George advised Chamberlain to substitute for his present policy a demand on all

LONDON, June 25.—"This country will join with other great powers in any conference for limitation of naval armaments or reduction of land armaments," Foreign Secretary Chamberlain declared to a crowded House of Commons.

"If we are thinking of land matters, security is a necessary preliminary, and we and the United States, who have reduced our forces to a scale no larger than a police force, are the interests we have to guard, perhaps not in the best position to summon a land conference."

Chamberlain had been guardedly discussing the proposed Rhine pact on which he and French Foreign Minister Briand recently came to an understanding at Geneva. He was careful in answering the challenge of David Lloyd George and Ramsay MacDonald, who had been foreboding that the pact would not be secure, would summon a land conference or ask the League of Nations to do so.

Answers His Critics. After hedging in his early speech, Chamberlain also replied more directly to his critics on his agreement with France.

He denied that under the agreement the French would have a right to invade Germany in order to "polish off" Poland under the Franco-Poland pact.

"The right to move troops across another country to the assistance of a third country derives, if at all, from the existing provisions of the League of Nations," he declared.

Chamberlain made clear that Britain proposes to guarantee Germany against France as well as France against Germany. He repeated previous efforts to make peace among the allies directed against German aggression and said such unilateral pact could now be contemplated by the British government; no alliance directed against a third party who was excluded from it could now form the basis of British policy.

Germany must enter the League of Nations "at least contemporaneously with the coming into force of any new arrangement of this kind," he said.

Step Toward Disarmament. The security pact, Chamberlain argued, will be a real step toward disarmament because it will dispel the atmosphere of fear in Europe.

Leaders of the Labor and Liberal parties opposed the pact in the House, although the isolationist feeling in the country is growing. Chamberlain denied isolation as an impossible policy for any nation.

"Whatever might have been possible in the past," he said, "no nation is isolated or could isolate itself today. Anything which seriously affects the peace of Europe is something which must affect every nation vitally, whether that nation is belligerent or not."

"Everywhere, the Psychology of the Vanquished." Chamberlain drew a graphic picture of the critical situation as it exists today, saying: "Europe today, six years after the signature of peace, still stands in two camps hostile in spirit, mutually suspicious, each apprehensive, with suspicions not lessened but deepened by the passing of time; and with the dangers of a new struggle breaking out in the future, not growing less as time goes on, but becoming greater."

"I repeat it, because it is the fundamental fact of the situation. Everywhere among the conquerors, no less than the conquered, there is the psychology of the vanquished. The British Government is trying to find a way out of this impasse."

Vagaries of the Perquisite Revealed in State Official's Draft on Penitentiary Commissary.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 25.—How a petty perquisite may be employed to enhance the emoluments of public service was disclosed by a personal check for $132 which Dr. Cortez F. Enloe, Director of Penal Institutions, and political tactician of the Baker administration, recently gave to the penitentiary auditor in payment of an overdraft on the prison's commissary.

The lawmakers of the State, in creating the office of Director of Penal Institutions in 1921, apparently felt that furnishing by the State of a residence, a $4000 a year salary, fuel and light, and an unlimited number of convict servants for the residence was sufficient for the politician rewarded with appointment as director.

No provision for a State food allowance for the director and his family was made, in the law. The section of the law specifically forbids sale of food or supplies by the prison to any officer or employee, or issuance of such supplies except for strictly State use.

The law makes removal a penalty for the offending prison officer or employee.

Allowance For Servants. However, the State Penal Board, by past practice, has put in operation a rule allowing the director an allowance of $75 a month in food supplies for each convict assigned as a servant at the director's residence, under the assumption that the convict would be used in feeding the commissary. Enloe, since his appointment as director by Gov. Baker, has used an average of five convict servants, resulting in an allowance of $75 a month.

The generally accepted interpretation of the allowance, as one board member stated it, is that if the director can feed himself and the convicts on the allowance, "well and good."

While Enloe's five convict servants entitle him to draw only $75 worth of supplies a month from the commissary, and those of the kind of fare fed to convicts, he has been exceeding this monthly allowance for several months. Delinquent bills were charged to the State because he frequently used his cars for official business. Conference of the board members are held on occasions at Dr. Enloe's "Sleepy Eye" lodge, reached by a drive of a few miles from Jefferson City. This country lodge was the scene of entertainments for members of the Legislature, at State expense, while the penal institution appropriation bills were pending in the recent session of the Legislature.

Enloe today admitted this plan of arbitration. This, he declared, is now practicable and he criticized the Rhine pact as not assuring arbitration where it is most needed, and not reducing armaments.

Lloyd George gave the impression that he was in response to Chamberlain's plea to the House "not to compel me to cross 't's and dot 't's at this time."

The isolationist cry which is strong in the press, was not voiced by any important politician in the House, although the isolationist feeling in the country is growing. Chamberlain denied isolation as an impossible policy for any nation.

"Whatever might have been possible in the past," he said, "no nation is isolated or could isolate itself today. Anything which seriously affects the peace of Europe is something which must affect every nation vitally, whether that nation is belligerent or not."

New York Trade Board Wants Those Who Use Arms Locked Up for Life.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Stating that "crimes of violence are being committed with such regularity and utter disregard for law and order that the business man may well be concerned about his own safety and the lives of his employees and associates," the Board of Trade and Transportation has adopted a resolution demanding life imprisonment for all criminals convicted of felonies in which a dangerous weapon is used.

The resolution calls on the Governor to take the necessary steps to amend the law so as to make it mandatory upon a Judge presiding at the trial of such a criminal to impose the extreme penalty in the event of conviction.

Among the pre-election promises of the Nationalists was one to the effect that the Government would adopt a generous program for the revaluation of such securities as had been wiped out during the inflation period. The invasion of the chamber was led principally by men and women who nominally support the right parties and represent the German bourgeois, which has become impoverished since the war.

Count von Westarp and other Nationalist leaders, whose presence was demanded by the unexpected visitors, disappeared and remained inaccessible throughout the session, although a crowd continued to occupy the lobby and buttonhole other members of the Reichstag.

Men are being "shot down in the streets," declares the resolution. "Bandits are invading business establishments, looting them and if it strikes them they are killed or maimed. The situation is such as to demand a considerable amount."

City Freeholders Tonight to Oppose Plan That Would Not Give Them Equal Standing on Three Permanent Committees.

By the Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—The Reichstag was the scene of considerable excitement yesterday when a large number of persons owning depreciated German Government bonds, war loans and other state securities forcibly made their way into the chamber.

The Reichstag was about to enter upon an important tariff debate when the disgruntled people came in and demanded to see the Nationalist leaders who, they declared, had made promises that they would be reimbursed for their holdings if Field Marshal von Hindenburg were elected President of the republic. It is presumed that the demonstrators obtained entrance into the building through the connivance of political opponents of the Nationalists.

Among the pre-election promises of the Nationalists was one to the effect that the Government would adopt a generous program for the revaluation of such securities as had been wiped out during the inflation period. ## KELLOGG TO BACK UP STATEMENT ON MEXICAN NOTE

Indications Are That Communication Which Ambassador Sheffield Will Deliver Will Be Grave.

SOME OF ENVOY'S PROTESTS IGNORED

Mexican Press Agent, However, Telegraphs That Sheffield Will Retire Because of Ill Health.

By CHARLES MICHILSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Ambassador James R. Sheffield will return to Mexico City as soon as his health permits, bearing with him an official note from this Government that will mark the return to diplomatic channels of the controversy that recently figured in the newspaper statements of President Calles and Secretary of State Kellogg.

Indications are that the note will be a grave one and the presumption is that it will put in formal shape the declarations of Kellogg in his statement to the press.

That statement, after mentioning the rumors of a threatened revolutionary movement in Mexico, declared that President Calles, that this Government's support of his administration would only be sustained as long as the Mexican Government lived up to its international obligations, and particularly that it would not permit the lives and property of American residents in Mexico.

Sheffield is understood to have convinced President Calles that the Calles Government, because of the American Government's policy of selling arms to the regularly constituted authorities, saw no reason to exert itself to satisfy American claims for property. He believed that the policy was being made victims of alleged communistic plots.

He said that his protests, even in the most aggravated cases, went unheeded and that he was now the expedient of the newspaper announcement was taken to indicate to President Calles that while it was the policy of the United States to support an established government, that policy might be changed if the Government in question did not live up to its obligations.

Report in Mexico That Sheffield Will Not Return.

NOGALES, Ariz., June 25.—That James R. Sheffield will retire as United States Ambassador to Mexico and will ask that George Hummerlin, American Minister to Monterrey, be named to the post is the assurance in diplomatic circles, according to a telegram received by Sonora, Mexico, officials from M. J. Sierra, chief of publicity for the Mexican Government at Mexico City. Ambassador Sheffield will retire because of ill health, says the telegram.

Sheffield Successfully Undergoes Minor Operation.

NEW YORK, June 25.—James R. Sheffield, American Ambassador to Mexico, will undergo a minor operation at St. Luke's Hospital today, his physician, Dr. Joseph Blake, announced.

Dr. Blake said Sheffield's condition following the operation was satisfactory and that there are no unexpected developments. The Ambassador should be in condition within two weeks to return to Mexico.

State Department Denies That Sheffield Will Retire.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The State Department today contradicted predictions that Ambassador Sheffield would not return to Mexico City. Sheffield is expected to return to his post within a week or two.

More Light on the Opera.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Y OUR editorial on "American Opera" is merely another effect of conditions under which opera is given in this country, being for the most part sung in foreign languages. Because most of us do not understand the text, we are misled into thinking of opera as music, instead of a union of language and tones. It is true, as you remark, that poor music will nullify a good libretto. But it is equally true that good music cannot redeem a poor libretto.

You may be interested to learn how many of the commanding and viable operas are connected with the names of eminent men of letters. Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" and Rossini's "Barber of Seville" derive from Beaumarchais. "Lucia di Lammermoor" stems from Walter Scott; Rossini's "William Tell" from Schiller; Meyerbeer's "Les Huguenots" and "L'Africaine" from Scribe; Bizet's "Carmen" from Prosper Merimee; Gounod's "Faust" from Goethe; "Rigoletto" from Victor Hugo; "La Traviata" from the younger Dumas; Verdi's "Otello" and "Falstaff" from Shakespeare; and the "Salome" and "Electra" of Strauss from Oscar Wilde and Sophocles. The list might be indefinitely extended.

I do not recall a single great and surviving opera which does not possess an excellent drama. On the other hand, many composers of genius have failed on the stage because of mediocre librettos. I shall mention merely Webster's "Oberon" and "Eurydice," all of Schubert's theatrical works, and Hugo Wolf's "Der Corregidor."

As for your contention that the genuine American opera must have an American locale and cast, as well as American text and rhythm, it is necessary only to name the principal Wagnerian music-dramas—surely the most significant contribution ever made to German national opera—and their locales: "Rienzi," Italy; "The Flying Dutchman," Holland; "Tannhauser," Germany; "Lohengrin," a Celtic myth transferred to Germany; "Die Meistersinger," Germany; "Tristan and Isolde," Ireland and Cornwall; "Das Rheingold," "Die Walkure," "Siegfried" and "Gotterdammerung," Scandinavia, and "Parsifal," Spain.

It may be that the genuine American national opera will have American places and characters, though personally I cannot visualize George Washington chanting an aria, Ben Franklin intoning a ballad, or Abraham Lincoln caroling a cavatina. It is quite as likely, however, that the scene will be Calcutta or Spitzbergen. Opera expresses emotions, and these are the same all over the world.

So far as I recall, the Russian composers of the nineteenth century formed the only school which pushed chauvinism to the extreme advocated by your editorial. I am wondering whether anyone—not a musical student could name off-hand a single Russian opera. Try it.

The Water Meter Proposal.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

AS a taxpayer and resident of St. Louis, allow me to voice my protest against the contemplated installation of meters for the water supply of St. Louis.

The installation of water meters would prove a great disadvantage and would create great hardships on the people. It is not true that it would prove less expensive to the residents.

If anyone has ever lived in a town where the water supply is limited, such as meters always make it, they can appreciate the annoyance of water so limited.

Third Division Reunion.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE local committee of the Third Division reunion desire to express to you their sincere thanks for the wonderful co-operation you gave us in the publicity for the recent boxing show, for the benefit of the coming reunion of the Third Division.

This was a fine example of the co-operation of the St. Louis press and it certainly contributed a great deal to the success of the undertaking.

THE PROHIBITION SHAKEUP.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews has issued an order, effective Aug. 1, which is described as the "biggest shakeup in the enforcement machinery since prohibition was established." It is more than a shakeup. The present machinery is to be scrapped. State lines are to be abolished. Federal directors for each State will be eliminated. New territorial units are to be created corresponding to our Federal judicial districts, with an administrator in charge of each district. Radical changes in personnel are promised.

Such is the new program in outline, the details of which are yet to be worked out. The basic principle of the plan is decentralization of authority. Enforcement is to be localized. The prohibition bureau at Washington is not to be junked, and the present officers, including Commissioner Haynes, will continue to hold their jobs; but their duties, we are told, will be supervisory rather than administrative and they will spend more time in the field and less at their desks.

As to changes in personnel Mr. Andrews will proceed slowly. He is determined, however, to weed out the incompetents. He wants to attract capable men by the practical inducement of good salaries. He wants $10,000 men for district administrators and hopes to pay them that figure, if Comptroller-General McCarl, to whom this question has been referred, approves.

How effective the reorganization will be remains to be seen. It is pretty sure to be an improvement on the present system of bias and bungle which has been notoriously inefficient and notoriously corrupt. But any plan of enforcing prohibition will encounter that seemingly insurmountable obstacle of an adverse or indifferent public sentiment. It is conceivable, of course, that, by the ruthless exercise of the power vested in it by law, the Government may ultimately accomplish something approximating enforcement. Such a condition, however, would not be a reign of law; it would be a reign of terrorism.

Perhaps we shall have to go through that experience before we find a way out of the dilemma into which prohibition has plunged us. In any event the situation as it has been and is is intolerable. Mr. Andrews is to be commended for having the courage and energy and honesty to tackle this job with his sleeves rolled up.

NICE DOGGIE.

It would seem that all the finer concepts of life had fled to suburbs like Webster Groves, which yesterday decided to treat its dogs politely. The debate on the question developed that Chief of Police McDonnell wanted to import, "rough, tough dog catchers" from St. Louis. Only rough, tough dog catchers, said the Chief, could handle rough, tough dogs. Which showed that Chief McDonnell does not know dogs.

The time has come to place the alley cur in his proper light before the public. No unfortunate in this life has been so misunderstood and so maligned. The average stray dog is not a rough, tough dog. All the rough, tough dogs live on steak bought from the butcher and wear brass collars, and swagger boorishly over well-kept lawns. No dog who has been exiled beyond the alley gate, to grub a living from garbage cans and consort with small boys at their meanest, can long remain a rough, tough dog. Hunger and mistreatment take the starch out of him. His tail droops and his ears fray and he gets a furtive look in his eyes.

The St. Louis Humane Society was right in coming to the aid of the alley cur. He does not need rough, tough men to handle him. Quick men, good runners, perhaps, for he is an artful dodger, but not rough men. The refuse from yesterday's dinners does not harden the soul of a dog. Misfortune chastens him. The stray dogs of Webster Groves would put their tails between their legs and howl in panic if they knew that Chief McDonnell had planned to send rough, tough men after them.

DR. DING.

Some 25 years ago at Beloit College an impudent and incorrigible youth amused himself by drawing caricatures of the faculty. For this high crime he was suspended by those august and bearded gentlemen. But the youngster, unabashed by the beetling brows of his mental and moral superiors, continued his mischievous pastime, constantly widening his range of subjects until they included the great men of the earth, who realize the futility of objecting to caricature. Now Beloit has conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of letters.

The boy is now known far and wide as "Ding," one of America's great cartoonists. His real name is Jay N. Darling, and, unlike most of the leading cartoonists who are gathered in New York, he maintains his home in Des Moines, Ia. Once Ding was enticed to New York at a huge salary, but he stayed only two years, declaring that if the metropolitan newspapers wanted his drawings they would have to come to Des Moines to get them. Come to Des Moines they did, and for years Ding has lived contentedly in the old provincial town, engaged in the high crime for which Beloit suspended him.

At Beloit today it is "Dr. Ding." If any of the oldsters remain on the faculty they look benignly on this product of the school, and wish they had saved the pictures of themselves which outraged their dignity a quarter of a century ago.

SPIGOT AND BUNC.

There are no sturdier virtues than those of economy and thrift. While not rated highly for their spiritual uplift, there can be no question that under the present administration in Washington these worthy graces hold first rank. Like other virtues, however, they may be overdone. Those of frankness and abstinence suggest themselves for comparison.

Director of the Budget Lord tells how a messenger in the Navy Department has saved more than $200 for the Government in redeeming pins and paper clips from waste-paper baskets. Now, let us look into this matter. Not as much detail is given as we would like, but probably the saving was equally divided between pins and paper clips. We may assume that the Government pays about 25 cents a thousand for its paper clips. Thus the eager messenger, who doubtless is a New Englander, retrieved 400,000 paper clips. In doing this his hand must have passed three feet to the paper clip and three feet back to the receptacle in which he stored his salvage, making a journey of six feet to each clip. Thus, it is demonstrated by a rapid and so far unaided calculation that his right hand traveled something like 480 miles.

Now, assuming that each individual action required four seconds, surely a conservative estimate, we find that this messenger devoted 444 solid hours to his task, or 54 working days of eight hours each. Surely nobody in the Navy Department works more than eight hours a day.

Applying the same method of calculation to the pins and assuming, moreover, that No. 5 pins were used and that they graded 4166 to the pound, we learn, with something resembling despair, that this gallant youth has redeemed 1,108,156 pins. It is almost unbelievable. Continuing the calculation, which by this time has grown complicated and difficult, we see that the pin item alone took up 74 days of time, and that the whole economic wave in which he has become enveloped has required 128 working days, not counting holidays and Saturday afternoons off, or 21 weeks. You can't get a good messenger boy nowadays for less than $10 a week. So this lad has cost the Government $210 and he has saved $200, leaving a clear loss confronting Director of the Budget Lord of $10, and in all this time he has not carried a single message.

WHAT OF THE WATER METER?

The net economy of metering the water provided by the city is a matter for engineers and accountants to determine. The calculated cost of $2,600,000 for meters to supply present consumers, plus $225 a year for depreciation and reading meters, seems large. But figures are relative. What would be the saving? Former Commissioner Wall of the Water Department says it would be $600,000 a year. In 10 years, declares Mr. Wall, the meters would pay for themselves, including all charges. And the life of a meter is 20 years.

The theory of the meter plan of service is unimpeachable. If, under the flat-rate plan, there are any who do not waste water they are paying for those who do waste. But, there being no incentive to save, waste may be universal. In that case the meter would turn wasters into savers, with less cost for all. Nobody gains from waste, and when the producer and consumer are identical, as in the municipal operation of a water plant, everybody except those with advantageous rates becomes a loser.

If continued waste under the flat rate necessitates the building of another enormous water plant in 10 years, what then of the economy of the flat rate? That is exactly the proposition which the city confronts. The demand for water service is growing daily. If annexation comes, as seems inevitable eventually, the water supply problem, of course, will be enormously increased. If the meter, in the calculations of reliable experts, is deemed a necessary economy, then the meter we must have.

"BE GOOD TO YOUR COUNTRY."

Cleaner camps and roadsides and the preservation of wild plant life is the program of the American Automobile Association for its members during the present touring season. It is a program that can be commended to every automobilist who seeks recreation outside city limits.

"Be good to your country," is the slogan of the campaign. Don't pick too many wild flowers; don't destroy or mutilate flowering shrubs and trees; extinguish camp fires when leaving; burn your rubbish and leave the camp in good order.

To which might be added, for the comparatively few who rob gardens, orchards or farms as they travel, don't be a petty thief, merely because you see an abundance of good things, perhaps unguarded, and easy of access. Buy what you want.

All of which is comprehended in the category of good manners, abroad as at home.

TRANSPORTATION THE KEY.

One of the most interesting items in the annual report of the City Plan Commission deals with the extended development of long-neglected portions of the city. In lineal feet of land developed, says the report, there has been an increase over the previous year of 15 per cent. Fifty plats for new subdivisions containing 5280 lots were received by the commission. Of this development 90 per cent has been in the southwest quarter, principally the Lindenwood district. "This district," we are told, "is now experiencing a long-delayed boom, having been seriously handicapped by the lack of adequate transportation service."

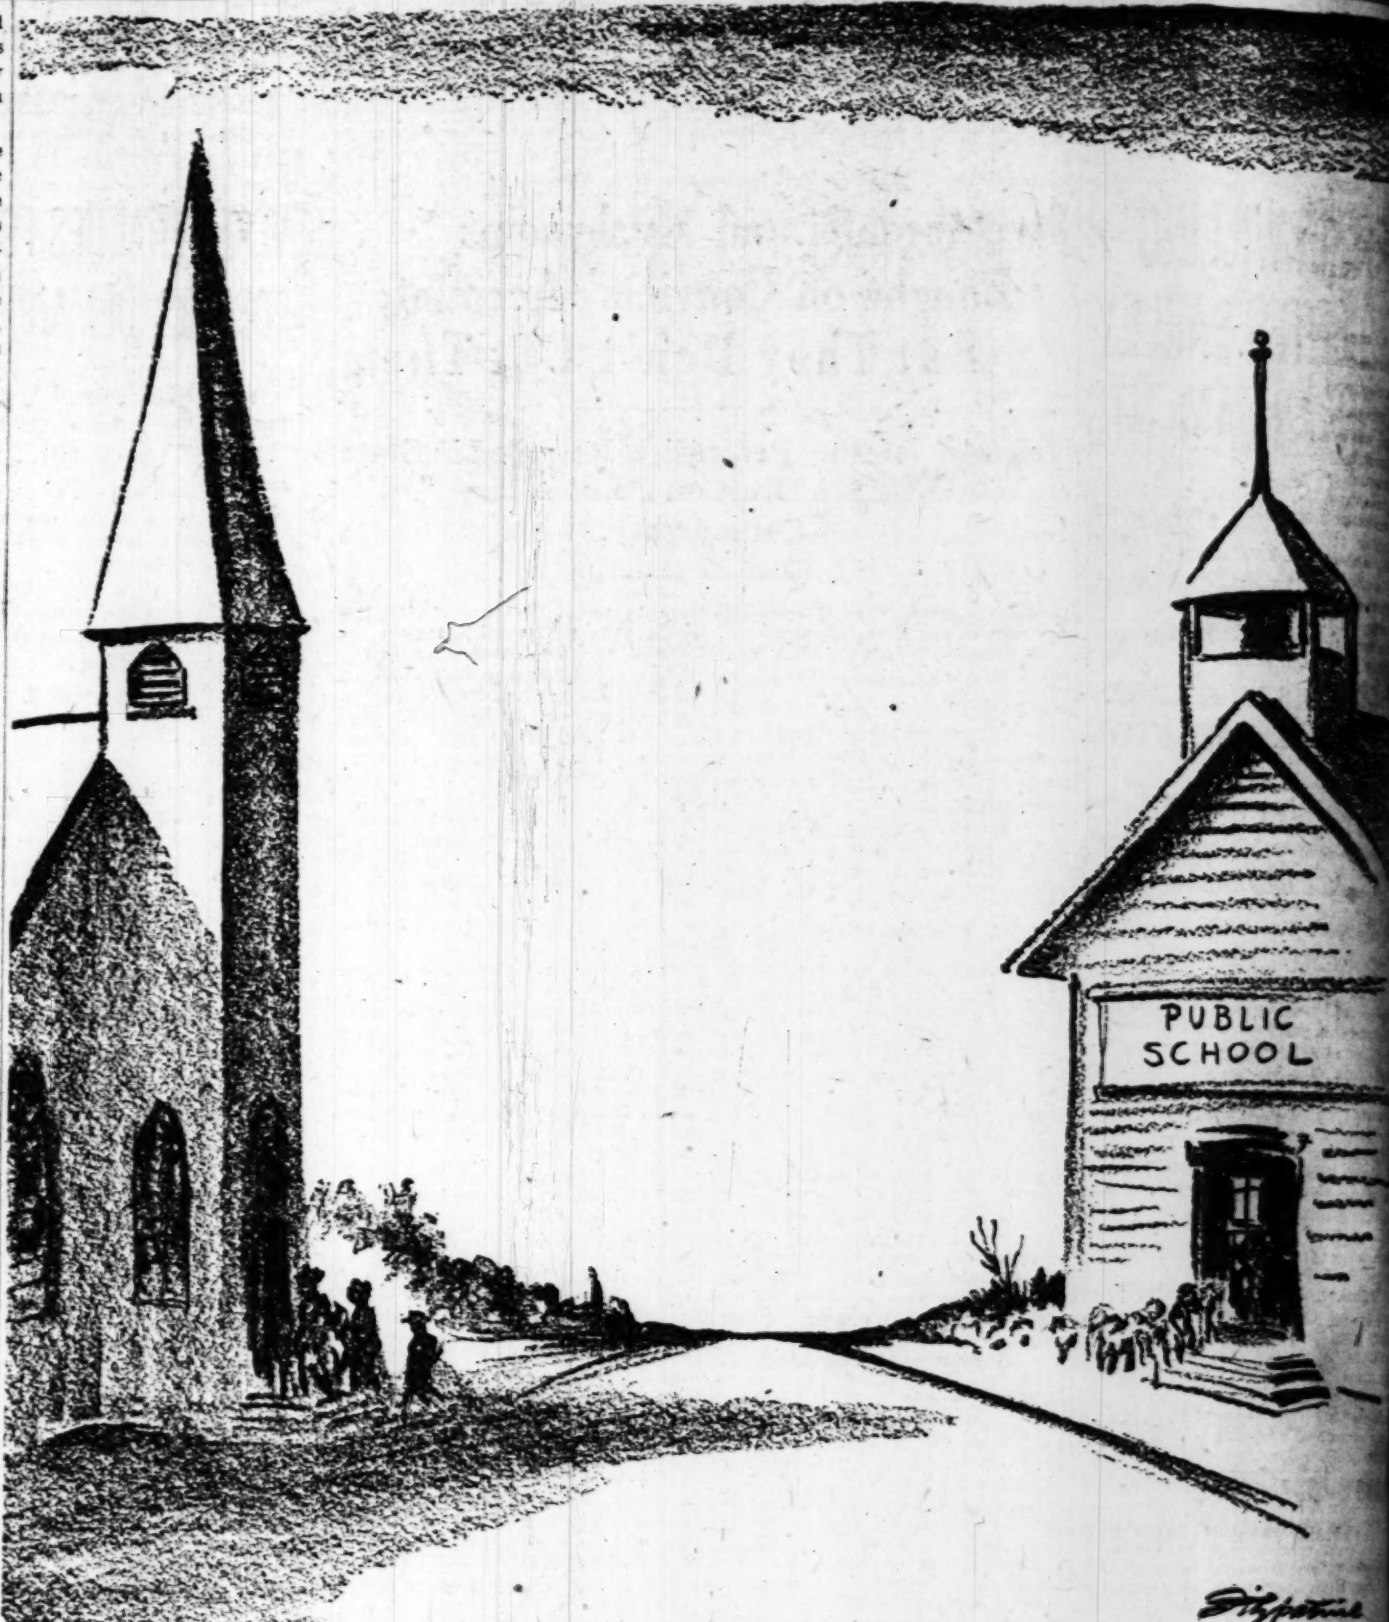

Transportation and new subdivisions suggest the old controversy over the priority of the hen and the egg. Does the service develop the subdivision or does the subdivision develop the service? Both things, in a measure, happened at Lindenwood. For a long time it was a fairly compact settlement without service. But when service came it had a boom, and now, of course, transportation is also booming—a good lesson for transportation companies who delay too long in providing service for a district ripe for development.

Public road improvement is another phase of the all-important transportation element that has enabled the city's southwest to grow and boom. This bears on the general topic of arterial street development which is now being delayed, says the Plan Commission, by willful property owners who resort to every means of obstruction to hold up the city for more than the appraised value of their property as determined under condemnation proceedings.

When will it ever be sufficiently appreciated that in a city of St. Louis' proportions quick, efficient and free transportation is the key to development and growth?

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

"I suppose," said Socrates, "you were all at the agora last Saturday for the law enforcement mass meeting."

"Indeed, we were," said Polemarchus. "And an anomalous gathering it was."

"Anomalous is a good word," said Socrates. "I have been racking my brain ever since trying to think of it. The evening was fraught with anomalies. But I wonder if you gentlemen noticed the particular anomaly which forced itself upon me."

"Do you mean the idea of a Prosecuting Attorney being dishonest who peels apples with a penknife?" asked Glaucon.

"No, not that."

"Nor the position of the Sheriff who sat in his parlor a hundred feet away and listened to speakers calling him names?" asked Thrasymachus.

"I have it," said Polemarchus, "you mean boss element, that is the pot calling the Sheriff, or kettle, black."

"Not even close. I wonder if any of you were listening when the Assistant Prosecuting Attorney spoke."

"We listened attentively, Socrates."

"Then you must have heard him admit that he had once been an automobile salesman?"

"That was indeed frank," said Glaucon. "Exactly. It was so frank that one had only to accept it as fact but also that which followed. Such a man must be truthful in all things."

"I don't think he would balk at anything if he conceded that much," said Thrasymachus.

"No. That is my idea of it. So when he said that he had taken an occasional drink as automobile salesman one had to believe it. Likewise when he stated that since becoming an officer of the law he had become a total abstainer, one accepted it as gospel truth. Now what an anomaly this is! Presumably the man has been a good citizen all his life. Nevertheless he at one time thought nothing of violating the eighteenth amendment and actually did so without a qualm. He took it like a gentleman and did not feel like a rogue. On becoming a public official, however, the horror of the thing was brought home to him and he now shuns liquor as if it were hemlock."

"A sudden shift of viewpoint, apparently," said Glaucon.

"Similar to the case of the late lamented Harding," said Polemarchus.

"That is true. Now this consideration leads us into several channels of thought, two of which we shall consider. First of all, why should a public official shun drink any more than a private citizen, especially when they happen to be one and the same man? Surely both are aware of the dire consequences. But this is merely considering a modern form of hypocrisy into which the country is being led.

The second and more important angle is this: We have unwittingly stumbled upon a workable plan to enforce the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act. Do any of you perceive my point?"

"Your riddle is difficult, Socrates," said Thrasymachus.

"Very well. Here we have been lumbering along for years now trying to enforce this thing and the solution to the problem has been right under our noses. Has, in fact, almost risen up and slapped us in the face. It is a source of wonderment to me that the right-thinking bloc has not thought of it before. It is merely this: Make every citizen a public official. Simple, is it not? With everyone in office, like the late President and the Assistant Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County, how could anyone be so ignominious as to wet his snout in private and preach law enforcement at school picnics? It is, as you see, unthinkable."

"You have a great mind," Socrates," cried all.

"Not at all. I merely think. The idea might be pursued further. For instance, in especially hardened cases, say where a man has been selling automobiles for 10 years, instead of two or three, he might be elected to two offices instead of one and if that did not cure him, he might be also named special assistant to the Attorney-General for the prosecution of liquor cases and chairman of the Committee of One Hundred for Law Enforcement. The idea has limitless possibilities."

"Remarkable," said Glaucon.

"Tut, very elementary. Now let us get a home edition and see if we are on the latest city hall proscription list." J. A.

Dear Sir: Are you aware of the new test? You are familiar with the religious test, but the religious test is no longer potent. At least it is not openly defended. The new test, of which I write, is the economic test. The question is not, is he right? Is he logical? Scientific? but is he a radical? Not was he of great achievement? but did he depart from the status quo?

"We have somewhat of an example of this sort in the case of La Follette. The fact that he was instrumental one and if that did not cure him, he might be also named special assistant to the Attorney-General for the prosecution of liquor cases and chairman of the Committee of One Hundred for Law Enforcement. The idea has limitless possibilities."

CLUB TO FIGHT "UNJUST" CASES

Will Submit Bill Prohibiting Cities From Interfering With State Regulations.

A measure to prohibit municipalities from interfering with State regulations on State highways will be prepared for introduction in the next session of the Missouri Legislature by the Automobile Club of Missouri. The club also will back a measure for a salaried and uniformed police for St. Louis County, similar to Senator Ralph's recent bill, which failed of enactment.

"We will appeal and keep on appealing until we wear them out," Vahlkamp said. "Local officials in the county accuse the club of 'fronting' for lawbreakers. Our position is that enforcement of the laws is the best thing for every automobile owner, but in St. Louis County it is not a matter of law enforcement, but of financial interest for the officers and the Justices. Abolition of the fee system would change this."

The club's most recent effort, Vahlkamp said, was to reach an agreement with the authorities of Brentwood, where a boulevard stop regulation has caused many protests and numerous arrests. A conference was held, but "everyone shouted and nobody agreed," the lawyer relates, and the situation was not improved.

Next Tuesday, Justice Gould is to hear three cases where the use of "flaring" headlights was charged. The club holds that the lights conformed to proper standards.

Vahlkamp said the arrests were made by deputy sheriffs who had been tested the lights with a makeshift board gauge, placed against the rear of the deputies' machine. Lights which they declared "flaring" were approved in tests made at the City Hall immediately afterward, the lawyer said.

ONE of the last of a long list of June weddings will be that of Miss Louise Jamieson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Jamieson, of 5367 Pershing avenue, and William Beauchamp of Chicago, which is to take place at 8:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening, June 30. The ceremony will be in Boffinger Chapel of Christ Church Cathedral, and will be followed by a small reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Louise Jamieson will attend her sister as maid of honor, and Frank Webster will be best man. Mr. Beauchamp and his bride will spend their honeymoon at the Wisconsin resorts and will make their home in Chicago, where the bridegroom is a member of the faculty at the University of Chicago.

Mrs. J. C. Van Riper of 5357 W. 12th avenue, and her cousin, Miss Bernice Allen of Dallas, Tex., will leave St. Louis today to sail Saturday from New York to spend the summer in Europe.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Katherine Carmack and James Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson of Chicago, formerly of St. Louis, which will take place the evening of July 21 at Lenox Hall, where the bride-elect has made her home since the death of her mother. Miss Elizabeth Donaldson, her cousin, and a sister of Mrs. J. C. ## CANYON WALL FALLS, FORMING NEW LAKE Tumbling Rock Smashes Section of National Forest and Destroys Herds.

By the Associated Press.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 25.—Western Wyoming today has a new and rapidly growing mountain lake, according to reports received here last night which said that a great mass of rock forming one side of a canyon of the Gros Ventre River in the heart of the Teton National Forest toppled from its base and across the stream.

A section of the national forest was smashed to kindling, many buildings were destroyed and several herds of cattle were swept away, according to a message.

The phenomenon was reported in a message received here from R. J. Jones, manager of the telephone exchange at Jackson, Wyo. Jackson is about 16 miles from the scene, according to the report. Jones reported that the fallen rock has formed a huge dam across the river and that it will impound a body of water probably hundreds of feet deep.

In five minutes, according to a report received by Jones from a horseman, the water rose 200 feet in the canyon. It was estimated that the stream will swell into a lake seven miles long and a mile wide before the water rises to the point where it will spill over the obstruction.

Several tourist parties were held up because of the occurrence, but none is in danger, the report added.

294 U. S. EMPLOYEES LOSE JOBS.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Two hundred and ninety-four employees in the field service of the Indian Bureau, including one or more in nearly every Indian agency and reservation in the country, will lose their jobs July 1, under a sweeping reorganization program announced here today.

The reduction of force will cut $27,995 annually from the payroll. Clerks, stenographers, matrons, Indian police, judges and other officials are among those whose positions will be abolished.

BRITISH COURT PRESENTS HUNTING WARMER WRAPS

Change in Plans for Dress Tonight Made After Predictions of Hot Weather Fall.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 25.—A sudden change in weather sent the American and other women who are to be presented at Buckingham Palace tonight scurrying in search of warmer wraps after all their plans had been made in accordance with the predictions of the weather prophets that the hot spell would continue.

It was so warm during the first court a few weeks ago that several persons fainted and a number of innovations were brought into use to keep the presentees cool up to the last moment prior to their entering to curtsy before the King and Queen.

Among these innovations were little ice boxes, installed in the limousines, both to cool the interior of the vehicles and conserve the freshness of the bouquets during the wait of two or three hours in the Mall, where the machines line up for their turn at the palace doorway.

Indications this morning were, however, that the debutantes would have to use foot warmers in their cars tonight instead of ice boxes. Numerous dressmakers worked most of last night attending customers desiring last-minute changes, introducing furs and velvets in place of the embroidered shawls first provided.

Among those to be presented is Miss Annie Laurie Warmack of St. Louis.

ST. LOUISAN HEADS CATHOLIC INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

Fred P. Kenkel Chosen at Meeting in Chicago—Delegates Discuss Child Labor Case.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Miss Mary McInerney, secretary to the Chicago Bimby Union, speaking yesterday at the Catholic Conference on Industrial Relations, said she had learned of child labor through employment herself from the age of 11. "They used to hide the children in barrels and packing boxes when the inspector visited the plants, but now Illinois takes its child labor laws seriously. On the other hand, cotton mill machinery for plants in some other states is made for children 10 years old. That is a pagan condition."

Massachusetts clubwomen actually repeated the ridiculous story that under the child labor amendment a boy under 18 years could not bring wood from the wood shed. "Ninety per cent of our clubwomen like to talk about industrial problems, but know nothing about them."

The conference elected the following officers: Honorary president, Rt. Rev. P. J. Muldoon, Bishop of Rockford, Ill.; president, Fred P. Kenkel, St. Louis.

SALE OF TOWER GROVE PARK STRIP TO CITY AUTHORIZED

Purchase Price of $500,000 to Be Paid to Shaw's Garden Trusts in Nine Annual Installments.

An order was made yesterday by Circuit Judge Falkenhainer permitting the sale by trustees of Missouri Botanical (Shaw's) Garden to the city of a 200-foot strip of land surrounding Tower Grove Park. Last April the Board of Aldermen adopted an ordinance providing for the purchase of this tract, the price to be paid being $500,000, and it was necessary to get a court order to ratify the deal.

The strip in question was set aside by the late Henry Shaw, donor of Tower Grove Park, to furnish revenue for maintenance of his botanical garden. He directed that the strip be leased for sites for the erection of "villas," the money derived therefrom to be used for the benefit of the garden, but the city never was able to find anyone who cared to enter into a lease under the conditions imposed by the terms of the deed, when Shaw gave the park to the city in 1881.

Judge Falkenhainer's order provides that payment for the tract shall be made on the basis of $50,000 down and the balance in nine equal annual payments bearing interest at 5 per cent.

Blind Veterans Elect Officers.

OMAHA, Neb., June 25.—Pledging anew their faith to a flag they could not see, blind veterans of the World War, attending the annual convention of the Disabled American Veterans, yesterday held their own annual meeting. The blind chapter has 65 members. Joseph E. Hulin of Baltimore was elected commander; Gustave Waackereley, St. Louis, senior vice commander, and Sol Krause, Pawnee, Ok., junior vice commander.

ALL BUT ONE OF MODERN WOODMEN OFFICERS RENAMED

W. J. Bryan's Name Presented For Head Escort of Organization, But Later Withdrawn.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 25.—Re-election of all but one of the incumbent officers and a revision of the prohibition laws of the order were the chief accomplishments of the quadrennial head camp of the Modern Woodmen of America here yesterday.

William Jennings Bryan was for a few minutes a candidate for the office of head escort of the organization, but his name was withdrawn by A. R. Talbot, head counsel of the Woodmen, and former law partner of the commoner. Bryan, who is not present at the encampment, was nominated from the floor by a delegate from Kentucky. Talbot explained that Bryan would be unable to fill the office if elected.

The prohibition amendment adopted merely simplified the phrasing of the organization's law banning from membership all who illegally manufacture, transport or sell intoxicating liquor.

ROOM FOR BOTH.

MARK SULLIVAN in World's Work for July.

THE oldest commercial house in America is the Francis Perot's Sons' Maltine Co. (One word in that name suggests that this firm must have been adaptable enough to survive another handicap, the coming of a ban against certain trades; although, of course, a maltine company may produce beverages other than beer.) This firm was founded in 1867 by an Englishman named Anthony Morris, who erected a brewery and malt-house on the Delaware River in Philadelphia. He was succeeded by his son. In 1741 a grandson came into the business. Later two great-grandsons were killed at the Battle of Princeton in the Revolutionary War. In 1809, two great-grandsons took control. In 1812 the business passed from the Morris name to the Perot name, but without change in blood descent, for Francis Perot was an example of the faithful apprentice who married his employer's daughter. In 1850 they discontinued brewing and became maltsters exclusively. In 1869 Francis Perot's son entered the business. It was not until 1887, when the business was just 200 years old, that it ceased to be a firm and became a corporation. The business is now in the hands of two great-great-great-great-great-grandsons.

THE WORLD'S NOT SO BAD.

From the Dallas Journal.

A TRUCK driver in New York lost a wallet the other day while making his round of deliveries. The wallet had $2940 of his firm's money in it. What with a wife and five children and the impossibility of holding his job, the man had something to worry about. His worry was relieved by the return of the lost wallet. The man who found it happened to be a well-to-do manufacturer. The driver stammered his thanks and his regrets that he could not reward the finder. The wallet restorer fixed the terms of the reward, however. They were that the truck driver should bring his wife and kiddies for a vacation sojourn at his place in the country, and the terms were accepted. The world isn't entirely bad when such things as this are recorded. And a year yields many stories of its kind.

PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Baltimore Sun.

THERE is a law in this State which holds communications to newspapers to be privileged. The editor of the Evening Sun was brought before the grand jury of Carroll County and asked to disclose the name of a correspondent who had written the paper under seal of confidence. He refused and was held by Judge P. Neal Parks to be entitled to claim the benefit of the statute referred to. Where crime is concerned it is, of course, the duty of those who have knowledge of it to communicate with the police or with the State's Attorney. But human nature is human nature. It is certain that people will supply newspapers at times, under seal of secrecy, with information that they would refuse to divulge if forced to go elsewhere with it. The fact that the issue of compelling a newspaper in this State to disclose the names of those who confide in it so seldom arises is evidence in itself that the privilege in question does not constitute an abuse and that it is not inimical to sound public policy.

DARROW'S LECTURE TO TENNESSEE BAR IS CALLED OFF

Invitation to Address State Meeting Tomorrow With Drawn Because "It Might Be Misconstrued."

By The Associated Press.
DAYTON, Tenn., June 25.—An invitation to Clarence Darrow to address the Tennessee Bar Association tomorrow has been withdrawn because his presence "might be misconstrued."

Darrow, Bainbridge Colby and other attorneys for the defense of J. T. Scopes, indicted science teacher, have just concluded conferences in Knoxville. Darrow departed for Chicago and the former Secretary of State for New York yesterday, while Dudley Field Malone returned to Dayton, stopping off in Chattanooga long enough to make a public address.

Lovick P. Miles, president of the Bar Association, sent the following telegram to Darrow:

"Regret developments make desirable the withdrawal of invitation to address the Tennessee Bar Association here June 26. An explanatory letter will follow."

Miles' Explanation.
Miles said that the suggestion that Darrow address the lawyers came from Knoxville. The invitation was extended and accepted shortly after this suggestion was received.

"While Mr. Darrow is a most distinguished lawyer, of whose signal ability and successes the country is well aware, after further consideration of the matter it was determined that the time is inappropriate for him to address the Tennessee Bar Association," said Miles.

"While, of course, we would observe the amenities of the occasion and his address upon 'The Cause and Treatment of Crime' would be of absorbing interest, nevertheless the invitation to him and his presence might be misconstrued."

"It is desirable to have at the annual meeting the largest possible attendance of lawyers, the utmost harmony and no cause for precipitating an acrimonious discussion of any matter. The primary object of the annual meeting is consideration of matters of general interest to the profession and these matters are, as a rule, the subject of standing committee reports. Since there developed serious questions of the wisdom of Darrow, the invitation was withdrawn."

Invitation at First Refused.
Dr. George W. Rappaport, defense staff, explained that the invitation to Darrow was extended by several members of the State Bar Association, including the secretary, after the Chicagoan's address at Knoxville Tuesday night. He said Darrow, at first refused, pleading lack of time, but reconsidered and accepted when urged "in the interests of the coming case."

Colby issued a statement in behalf of all members of the defense staff. He said that the trial involved a grave issue that he could not "account for in the 'holiday atmosphere' surrounding the approaching trial."

Malone's Statement.
Declaring that the Scopes evolution trial is a test of free speech, Dudley Field Malone said that he sees no reason why a person cannot be both an evolutionist and a Christian. He declared that he has come to Tennessee "in behalf of young men and young women who are entitled, in all public and private institutions to be taught the truth and the whole truth."

"The chief aim of holding such a trial as that of Scopes at Dayton is to expose the motives and purposes which lie behind legislation of this kind," said Malone. "An expose of Mr. Bryan and the psychology of people of his type in this country should do a great deal toward clearing the air for straight thinking."

"The attorneys for the defense have as many different philosophies of life as any other group of men, but we are all agreed that the battle line has been pitched at Dayton to make a stand for the right to teach and the right of young people to learn the truth and the whole truth about art, religion, literature and science."

"Theology is concerned with the aspirations of men and with their faith in a future life. Science is concerned with the processes of nature. Theology may be static, but science must be based on progress, development and constant experimentation. The more we know about nature and the more we learn about nature through science, the more should be our appreciation of the beauty and power of God."

Dayton committees arranging to care for the anticipated crowds at the trial have under consideration today a proposal from a New Orleans construction company to erect an auditorium with a seating capacity of several thousand. The building would be used only for overflow crowds, the court proceedings being transmitted through amplifiers.

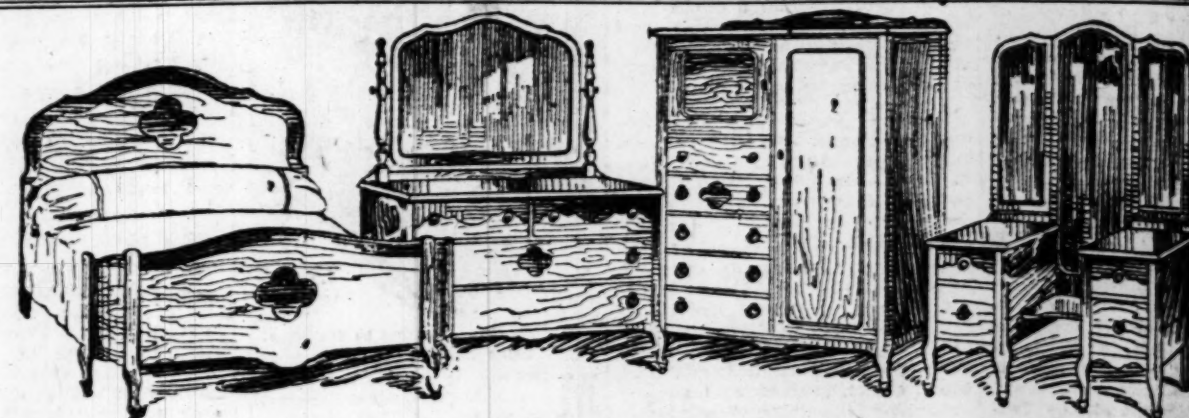

Profiteers will be banned from Dayton during the trial. While the City Commission points out it will have little control over the prices merchants put on articles sold on their own premises, they have the assurance of Dayton people that visitors will be cordially welcomed and rates will be reason-

INJUNCTION SUIT CONTINUED BECAUSE OF AUTO ACCIDENT

Moses Pulverman, Attorney in Case, Lost Two Children in Mishap and Wife Was Injured.

Federal Judge English, in East St. Louis, yesterday continued the temporary injunction against 19
strikers, charged with intimidating railroad construction workers on the Akin branch of the Southern Illinois & Kentucky Railroad, until June 30, because the wife of the attorney for the plaintiff, Moses Pulverman of Benton, Ill., was seriously injured and his two children killed in an automobile accident
Tuesday near Mount Vernon, Ill.

The temporary injunction was granted June 15 to M. L. Windham.

The accident occurred when the machine ran off the road and turned over several times. Mrs.
Pulverman suffered a fractured skull and a puncture of the left lung.

Switchman Injured by Automobile.

John J. McNiff, 50 years old, of 2725 Allen avenue, St. Louis, a switchman for the East St. Louis Connecting Railway Co., suffered a fractured collar bone yesterday, when struck by a motor car as he stepped from the levee into Front street, East St. Louis. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital. The driver, George Crowl, 3532 Bam-berger avenue, St. Louis, said the accident was unavoidable, as McNiff stepped in front of his car before he could stop. He was not held.

"Salary-42 cents a month"

WANTED—Bookkeeper and Treasurer; must handle funds and render monthly statement; must furnish own safe and guarantee safety of money; must furnish necessary books, stationery, etc. Salary, 42 cents a month; possible opportunity for advancement. Box J72.

INSERT such an advertisement in a newspaper and how many replies will you receive? Yet, when you enter a bank to open a small checking account, you are inviting the bank to accept just such a job, at just such a salary.

When you consider it, there is no other institution that offers so much service for so slight a return. A bank affords complete service to the $100 checking account customer as well as the $100,000 customer. His money is safe in the bank's vaults; he is protected from loss by fire and theft; he may mail checks to pay his debts and use the checks, when canceled, as receipts; he is furnished a pass book as a permanent record of his deposits, and monthly statements that are neat and accurate records of his financial transactions.
On the other hand the bank receives a gross income, liberally computed, of 42c a month for each hundred dollars average balance. A portion of the bank's expenses, such as salaries, stationery, pass books, etc., must be paid out of this 42c.

The facts are just as you imagined them. Banks lose money on checking accounts with small average balances. Such accounts have been carried at a loss because a few small accounts have grown to be profitable, but an analysis indicates the number of these accounts is very small and does not justify the loss sustained by carrying the great number of small balances over a long period.

On July first St. Louis banks will place a service charge on small checking accounts, which will amount to $1 a month on accounts that are not self-sustaining. This is one of a series of advertisements explaining the fairness of the charge, which has been adopted by banks in sixty-one cities in the United States.

OBTAINS BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE AT THE AGE OF 75

John F. Browne Plans to Take Postgraduate Work in Johns Hopkins U.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SALEM, W. Va.—John Franklin Browne, 75 years old, received a long-cherished bachelor of arts degree recently from Salem College at its thirty-seventh annual commencement. The college faculty believes he is the oldest student to receive a college degree in America.

Browne wanted a college degree for more than half a century. He started to get one from Dartmouth College when a young man, but death in his family and other circumstances prevented. But he obtained much knowledge piecemeal from various schools and colleges. Now that he has at last obtained his degree, his enthusiasm has not waned, for he is planning to take a post-graduate course this summer at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore. In the fall he plans to become a professor on the faculty of his alma mater.

In early life, after his ambition to obtain a degree from Dartmouth was frustrated, Browne took up the teaching profession. He also engaged in missionary work for various denominations. For a time he was associated with John G. Fee, abolitionist leader in the South. Then at another time he was a member of the board of directors, and a professor at Berea College at Berea, Ky. At still another time he was a proof reader on the Springfield (Mass.) Republican and was an instructor for a home correspondence college there.

FROG EMPLOYS NOVEL MEANS OF PROTECTION FROM SNAKE

Fishermen Watch Creature Grasp Stick in Mouth to Keep From Being Devoured.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. YAZOO CITY, Miss.—A party of fishermen back from a trip up the Yazoo River bring a story of a fight between a bullfrog and a large water moccasin, and the unique method of defense adopted by the bullfrog.

The snake had captured the frog on the bank of a small lake, and dropped his victim for a moment before swallowing him. Snake and frog were within a foot of each other, and the onlookers were astounded to see the frog seize a stick about six inches in length, directly in front of him, and clasp it firmly in his mouth. A moment later the snake darted for his victim, but the stick protruding from the jaws of the frog saved him from being swallowed. The snake finally gave up the battle.

Flies * And Mosquitoes * Breathe Black Flag and Die—Not One Escapes Alive!

BLACK FLAG is the surest killer of bugs ever discovered. It kills every fly, mosquito and roach that gets into your home. Not one escapes. For BLACK FLAG contains a secret vegetable ingredient that pests breathe and die. But it is absolutely harmless to humans and animals.

It is the deadliest of Black Flag that makes it different from ordinary insecticides which kill, at best, only 6 out of every 10 bugs. The four which get away breed hundreds which return. But BLACK FLAG kills them all—10 out of every 10 pests.

Every kind of insect pest in the home is killed by BLACK FLAG. It kills—besides flies, mosquitoes and roaches—ants, bedbugs, dog fleas, moths, plant lice and chicken lice.

The greatest of insect killers. Kills every roach, too!

Either form of BLACK FLAG—powder or liquid—will kill these pests.

Both are equally effective—always use the powder to kill dog fleas and lice. Never use any liquid on furs; use the powder to make them moth-proof.

Many people use both, preferring the liquid to kill flies, mosquitoes and moths—and the powder to kill ants, roaches, bedbugs, dog fleas and lice.

BLACK FLAG costs less. Powder, 15c up. Powder Gun, 10c. Liquid, 25c up. Sprayer, 45c. Introductory package containing can of liquid and sprayer for only 65c. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores. Buy BLACK FLAG today.

ATHLETICS HAVE GIVEN WORLD HIGH SOCIAL CODE, SAYS GRIFFITH

By the Associated Press.
CEDAR POINT, O., June 25.—Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics in the Western Conference, in an address before the Ohio State Teachers' Association convention at Cedar Point, declared that physical education in the schools and colleges was undergoing the process of being accepted as an academic subject.

"Physical education," he said, "much resembles the republican form of government in that sensible rules for its operation must be adopted and that the educational authorities must see that these rules are observed."

"The mind of the public is not yet trained as a whole to the tremendous growth of athletics in the schools and colleges."

"Through intramural athletics thousands of students are benefited and it is from the receipts of the intercollegiate contests that these great programs of athletic education are made possible. Ohio State University, by herculean effort, has succeeded in getting the world the students to participate in one or more forms of athletics."

One big 10 school had made an appropriation of $200,000 for two chairs of physical education. Another is doing research work to determine the benefits derived from four years of athletics to a student.

"Athletics teach the student not to alibi defeats and consequently help to make better citizens. Athletics have given the world the highest social code of the age."

Twenty Entries For Motorboat Racing Revival

High-Powered Craft Will Compete on Mississippi in Regatta Sunday.

Four speed events are scheduled for the motorboat racing revival program on the Mississippi River at the foot of the business district Sunday and the entries which closed yesterday number 20 high-powered craft. The distances range from five to ten miles and the day will be concluded with a special race between the winner of the free-for-all event and an airplane piloted by Maj. William H. Leininger of the Thirty-fifth Division Air Service.

The 10-mile event has the largest number of contenders, 13 boats being scheduled to start. They include the Spad III, which is capable of 400 horse-power; the Panhard of 350 and the Black Prince and Baby Panhard of 300 horse-power each. The Mauna Loa is rated a dangerous one in this race.

Three boats will start in the cruiser event, the Huntress, the Hawk and Black Prince II. The Hawk is a 400 horse-power boat. All boats in the 10-mile race are eligible for the free-for-all, but so far only three have entered. They are Miss St. Louis, Sun Bum II and Blue Diamond of Peoria.

Cards Miss Double Victory When Topcor's Drive Is Foul by Foot

Little Break in Luck Would Have Resulted in Home Run and 8-7 Win for Locals, in Second Game—Hornsbys Clouts Three Homers, Two Helping Clinch First Contest

By Herman Wecke.
Leo Dickerman, the lanky right-hander, of Flint Rhem, knocked off the hill in less than an inning in the first game of the series, will be selected by Manager Rogers Hornsby to pitch the Cardinals to an even break with the Pirates of Pittsburgh in the final contest today. Dickerman, since he has come to the big tent, has failed to gain a conquest over the Corsairs.

Bill McKechnie will counter with Lee Meadows, one of the leading hurlers in the majors, this season. Meadows has a record of 19 victories against three defeats.

In the double-header, yesterday, it was slug, slug and then slug some more. The Cardinals had the better of it in the opener and won, 5 to 3, thereby shattering a losing streak, which had reached three in a row. In the nightcap, the Pirates, with eight right-hand batters in the lineup, clubbed Bill Sherdell in the seventh and eighth innings to gain a 7-to-6 triumph.

The even break enabled the Cardinals to remain a game and a half behind the pace-making Giants.

Fortune Favors the Buccaneers.
But the Pirates were fortunate to win even one game. There was the Cardinal ninth, for instance. In this round after Blades had been retired, Smith struck and Hornsby hit into the right-center bleachers for a homer. It was the Cardinal manager's third of the day and his twenty-first of the season. Last year Hornsby had but 25 four-baggers. That homer swat put the Cardinals but one tally to the bad.

Jim Bottomley followed with a single and Johnny Morrison was on his way, the veteran "Babe" Adams coming in to stem the tide. Adams got rid of Flack on the pop fly to Adams. That caper a bad break for the Cardinals and an extremely lucky one for the Corsairs.

Topcor Misses Fame by a Foot.
George Topcor's next batter, waded into Adams' first pitched effort. It was on the roof of the right field pavilion. But it was a foul by little more than a foot. Had that ball been fair it would have given the Cardinals an 8-to-7 victory. Topcor's next effort was a grounder to McInnis on first, ending the game.

Emil Yde, the left-hander, and last season's best young pitcher in the majors, attempted to stop the Cardinals in the first clash. But Yde failed. He lasted less than six innings, but in that time the men of Hornsby found him for 10 runs. The day's big sessions, the fourth and the sixth. In each of these sessions nine Cardinals went to the plate and in each frame five scored. Hornsby's homer, his second of the opening game, with two on base, was the big punch in the sixth. The Cardinal leader's other four-pitcher was added in the sixth, and this pair proved just enough to give the Pittsburgh club an even break on the day. Up to the eighth Hornsby held the locals to six hits. He was found for five in the last two. Sherdell was bumped for 14 safeties.

A crowd estimated at 12,500 saw the men of Hornsby gain an even break with the Pirates.

The record for the Cardinals since Hornsby took charge May 21 is 16 victories against 8 defeats for a winning percentage of .667.

Hornsby came within inches of poling three homers against Yde. Max Carey leaned against the fence in right center and then had to leap to snare the Cardinal

Eddie Collins TIPS ON INSIDE BASE-BALL

Diagram of Play.

On the above play, the catcher should always back up first base as to be in a position to handle an overthrow.

The second baseman's judgment largely determines how the play should be executed. If there is a chance for a force play at second he should always start sufficient time to back up first base and be in a position to handle the ball in case it gets by the first baseman as the result of a poor throw.

Situations determine the possibility of the catcher backing up a play at first. If there is no one on and the throw is from the third baseman or the shortstop, it is a physical impossibility for the catcher to line up with the play.

If the throw to first is from the second baseman, the catcher can back up the play. He has the time to so position himself. With a possibility of a new play coming up at the plate, the catcher should never leave the lines of his position to back up a play at first.

Flying Ebony at Latonia to Run In $50,000 Derby

Winner of Kentucky Classic Arrives This Morning Unexpectedly—Silver Fox Out.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LATONIA, Ky., June 25.—Flying Ebony, son of The Finn, which with Jockey Earle Sande in the saddle, won the 1925 Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, and Swope, the big strapping distance horse from the stable of Bud Fisher, arrived at Latonia this morning.

The horses shipped in excellent condition and are to be given their final trials tomorrow morning in preparation for the $25,000 Latonia Derby Saturday afternoon.

It is understood here that William Duke, trainer of Flying Ebony, is trying to arrange for Sande to come west to ride the colt which will be the East's favorite in the big race.

Jockey J. Kellum will probably ride Swope.

Owner G. A. Cochran is eager to see Flying Ebony with the Latonia

Derby and the additional $50,000 offered to the horse which captures both Kentucky Derbies and is expected to arrive tomorrow or Saturday.

Bud Fisher will not be here, as he is on his way to Europe.

Silver Fox, the Rancocas Stable ace, which had all he could do to win the Shovel Stakes at Aqueduct from Swope, will not be shipped. Trainer Sam Hildreth decided at the eleventh hour that a mile and half was too long a route for the colt.

Should the track remain muddy or heavy, King Nadi will undoubtedly go to the post favorite, but should the course be fast Captain Hal is likely to get the call. Many doubt the ability of Captain Hal to carry weight over this distance.

Deeming the only fully entered, has shown some sensational trials and has worked a mile over a fast track in better than 1:40. Thika, regarded as the outsider, worked over a fast track during the past week, going a mile in 1:41 2-5.

Silver Fox, the Rancocas Stable ace, which had all he could do to win the Shovel Stakes at Aqueduct from Swope, will not be shipped. Trainer Sam Hildreth decided at the eleventh hour that a mile and half was too long a route for the colt.

Should the track remain muddy or heavy, King Nadi will undoubtedly go to the post favorite, but should the course be fast Captain Hal is likely to get the call. Many doubt the ability of Captain Hal to carry weight over this distance.

Deeming the only fully entered, has shown some sensational trials and has worked a mile over a fast track in better than 1:40. Thika, regarded as the outsider, worked over a fast track during the past week, going a mile in 1:41 2-5.

Owner G. A. Cochran is eager to see Flying Ebony with the Latonia

Derby and the additional $50,000 offered to the horse which captures both Kentucky Derbies and is expected to arrive tomorrow or Saturday.

Bud Fisher will not be here, as he is on his way to Europe.

HORSE FALLS DEAD IN RACE AT LATONIA

CINCINNATI, O., June 25.—Modest, E. B. McLean's son of Colin Shyness, which won the Granger Memorial Handicap at Louisville last year, fell dead yesterday during the running of the feature race at Latonia in which he was a starter. Jockey J. Burke escaped with a shaking up.

Derby and the additional $50,000 offered to the horse which captures both Kentucky Derbies and is expected to arrive tomorrow or Saturday.

FRITZI RITZ

JOE'S CAR

STRAW HATS ON MEN CREATE

SENSATION IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Abandonment of Fez and Hair
Up Press Controversy.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 25.—

The first Mohammedan men to appear on the streets of Constantinople wearing straw hats created a sensation almost equal to that which resulted when Turkish women discarded their veils immediately after Turkey became a republic.

Protests from the strict reli-gionists against the discarding of the fez was hardly begun when the Chief of Police added further fuel to the controversy by ordering visitors on the fez-like caps which traffic officers in the Turkish capital have worn from time immemorial.

Constantinople is now the center of a ferocious controversy in which most of the newspapers publish long editorials advocating personal liberty. The question is whether the broad-brimmed straw hats or the peaked fez.

Women have added to the furor by announcing their intention of wearing hats, though thus far they are hampered by the drain upon family funds and by the shortage in the millinery shops in Moslem lands. Since discarding their veils and until the present time, Turkish women have deferred to Moslem custom to the extent that their headgear has been a tightly wrapped kerchief, usually of black.

"When we wear hats, said Senha

Itusen Hanum, a charming young

Turkish woman, "We are as good

Mohammedans while we are traveling as we are while at home. So why shouldn't we wear hats here?"

OSLO, June 24.—The whaling season in the Atlantic waters around South Shetland and South

Georgia has been very successful, as far as the Norwegians are concerned.

The whalers secured 166,000 barrels of whale oil from South Georgia and 166,850 barrels from South

Shetland, this being an increase in the amount obtained last year of 50,000 barrels. At South Orkney

34,000 barrels were obtained, while off the Mexican coast Norwegian whalers got 22,000 barrels.

The total for the Norwegian companies this year has been 410,000 barrels. It sails practically over the whole of the globe, and it has about 4000 Norse sailors engaged in the trade as whalers.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 24.—

The offer of the leading Detroit automobile manufacturer to the Turkish Government, to give 25

young men two years of instruction in his automobile and tractor plants, have brought more than 350 applications from Turkish boys desiring to avail themselves of the privilege. The Ministry of Public Instruction, which is making the selection, is now preparing examination questions and will select the boys who show the best knowledge of English and who demonstrate mechanical ability.

As fast as the applications were presented they were sent to the police who investigated the record of each young man's health and the standing of his family in Angora. It is expected that those chosen will leave for the United States next month. The Detroit company will pay the traveling expenses of the boys and will give them $5 a day during their period of instruction. When they return to Turkey they will step into positions as automobile and tractor mechanics—a service much needed by the Turkish Government. The Turkish Government requires each family to deposit a $500 bond guaranteeing the boy's return after two years.

CITY TAX UPHELD
ON CAPITAL STOCK OF NATIONAL BANK

Paris Rules Levy of $325,475 Against First National Last Year Is Legal by Act of Congress.

BUDGET TROUBLES
FOLLOWED SUITS

Municipal Appropriations Cut When Six Institutions Refused to Meet Levy Totalling $757,066.

Holding that the State has a right under an act of Congress to levy taxes on a National bank, Federal Judge Paris today dismissed the suit of the First National Bank to enjoin the city from collecting $225,475.61 taxes on its capital stock for the year 1924.

It was the refusal of the First National and five other banks to pay their capital stock taxes in 1924 which contributed to a $500,000 deficit in city funds for the year. This deficit, reaching over into 1925, caused cuts in the budgets of many departments, notably the Park Department, which put in force a consequent curtailment of recreational facilities.

Others Refused to Pay. Altogether the banks have refused to pay $757,066. They filed injunction suits simultaneously on Jan. 2. Besides the First National, they are: National Bank of Commerce, $274,936; Merchants-Laclede National Bank, $63,435; State National Bank, $62,257; National City Bank, $28,964, and St. Louis National Bank, $1885.

The First National Bank was joined in the suit by Joseph D. Bascom, chairman of the board of the Frederick & Bascom Rope Co. and a holder of stock in the bank. The complainants set out that Bascom had paid the Government income tax on the dividends from his stock and that the attempt of the city to collect taxes on the stock from the bank would constitute double taxation, if successful.

Dismissal Ordered. Judge Paris' order to dismiss was given on a motion to that effect argued some days ago by both sides. The officers of the city named in the suit as defendants were the Assessor, Collector and members of the Board of Equalization.

The Court pointed out in its opinion that the State cannot tax national banks except by specific authority of Congress. This authority, he declared, was granted by an act passed in March, 1923. "The fact that Bascom voluntarily paid as income taxes a proportion of the dividends on his stock, which he could have retained successfully, does not absolve the bank from payment of taxes upon the stock," the Court held. The failure of Bascom to establish the right of exemption from taxation as far as the stock dividend was concerned, constituted no estoppel, it was stated.
